

Canadian citizens elect political representatives for all three levels of government: municipal, provincial, and federal. Across Canada there are also band councils, which govern First Nations communities. These elected councils make decisions that affect their local communities.

Each level of government is responsible for providing a variety of services and programs, a summary below from each.

Decisions made by municipal government directly impact your quality of life and community as the services provided are those we all rely on every day.

If you care about transit, fire & police protection, well-maintained roads, fair taxes, garbage/recycling collection, environmental progress at the city level, or recreational facilities in Saskatoon over the next four years, voting in Saskatoon's municipal election on November 9, 2020 is a way to make your voice heard.
