

About SAULTEAUX FIRST NATION

The Saulteaux First Nation is part of the larger Ojibwa or Chippewa tribe residing in the Northern United States. The word ‘Saulteaux’ is a French translation for ‘people of the rapids’, and relates to their original settlement location near a waterway. Originally, the Saulteaux First Nation settled around the Northern Great Lakes region in Ontario. The soil conditions and short growing season made it difficult to farm, as a result their lifestyle was focused on hunting and trading with European settlers. Due to expansion of the fur trade, a portion of the Saulteaux tribe traveled west and settled in Saskatchewan.
